Subject: Microsoft Settlement

While it is my opinion that the entire basis of the suit was without cause the process has brought us all to this point and it is from here that we must proceed. It is imperative that the settlement be made final and that all parties are made to abide by the terms thereof. The use of the court system to stymie one's competitors is reprehensible. The production of competitive goods is the proper response. I ask that the settlement be enforced and that all attempts to subvert the course of this final justice be denied. In the vernacular of the day Microsoft's competitors can put up or shut up and quit whining like children at a toy store. Thank you.
